You got me thinking about this and I picked some up from ffp, it does have a small amount of sparkle in it but not really enough that could be seen through the package. It's also the same color as the hairs ( didn't pull it out at the show). It also has bunny in it but the ratio of that and the squirrel seems pretty even. I know without some sort of other medium in with the squirrel it's tough to get on the thread without quite a bit of it falling off. Yes wax fixes this, but I don't use it much. Each kind of dubbing has it's own pro's and con's, probably why I've got so much of it. 🤔
