You got me thinking about this and I picked some up from ffp, it does have a small amount of sparkle in it but not really enough that could be seen through the package. It's also the same color as the hairs (didn't pull it out at the show). It also has bunny in it but the ratio of that and the squirrel seems pretty even. I know without some sort of other medium in with the squirrel it's tough to get on the thread without quite a bit of it falling off. Yes wax fixes this, but I don't use it much. Each kind of dubbing has it's own pro's and con's, probably why I've got so much of it. 🤔
