@ Osprey - in the old days, I was taught that the reel handle gets in the way of line management. Especially with the sidearm/low casting plane technique that I use frequently. I've NEVER had the line tangle in the handle though and my reels are ALL set up as left hand retrieve. I like keeping the rod in my dominant (right) hand. I never got the practicality of switching hands to reel with the "strong" hand. They do that with baitcasters too - JG
