

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Getting dialed in with blood knots

Re: Getting dialed in with blood knots

Author: : dc410

Date: : 2013/3/17 15:01:05

URL:

I agree that both tag ends of a completed surgeon knot come out of the knot at a distinct angle, not at 90 degrees like they do on a blood knot. I never considered the position of both working ends of the surgeon knot to be any issue while constructing leaders. I agree with Chaz, the surgeon knot is stronger than a blood knot. I tie my WW and toothy critter leaders with surgeon knots for this reason.