Dear Kev,

I don't buy superlines, I mostly just buy cheap Cortland knockoffs at Hook and Hackle.

I could refloat the Ttitanic with all the cleaning pads I have but like I said, I don't buy overpriced BS waste of money flylines.

All good floating flylines began and ended with Cortland lines. I realize in today's world Cortland blows but I'm loyal and stupid so I stick with them, or at least the people that provide the knockoffs of their lines.

They work

On a side note the first time I buy a flyline that doesn't include a cleaning pad will be the last time I buy that brand of flyline.

Regards,

Tim Murphy 😊
