

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : Aquatic Entomology Blog: Aquatic Insects of Central Virginia

Aquatic Entomology Blog: Aquatic Insects of Central Virginia

Author: : DGC

Date: : 2013/3/18 9:59:31

URL:

Not sure if I or someone else has mentioned this blog, which is now my # source for nymph information. The guy is quite passionate about accuracy, takes amazing photos and posts often in easy to understand prose. A labor of love, obviously.

There is a search box for ease of use. The only drawback is that it is almost 100 percent nymphs, not adults.

Aquatic Insects of Central VA

You will have to decide for yourself if these VA bugs are relevant to fishing in your location. I think any Appalachian freestone angler will benefit.