Thanks for all of the good insight guys. I have decided to keep the outfit for now, and will hopefully get enough chances to use it to make it work the money. I got the rod on closeout and the reel on another forum for a really good deal, so I got a lot of bang for my buck and think it is work keeping.

This will make for some really fun pond fishing, light dry fly/ trico rod, and hopefully brookie/ small stream rod. I fish the Gunpowder mostly and have caught very few fish that I wouldn't be comfortable catching with a 2 weight.

Thanks again. Hopefully I'll be able to update the post when I get out with this new set up.
