This would have been perfect for me! I just found this site today since I got my first fly rod and want to take up fly fishing this year. I live In Bethlehem. Are there any other events similar to this planned? I'm sure its a lot of work to put together and there probably won't be one for a while. I need all the help I can get though. I don't really know anyone that fly fishes to get help from. I got some dvd's to go off of for now. Seems like it was a great experience wish I would have got on here earlier!

Hi jhedge - Welcome to the forum!

You're like 10 minutes away from me, and a stones throw from the Monocacy. The Saucon isn't far either.

I'm usually available on Saturdays - feel free to PM me about getting together. After March 30th, you can fish everywhere around here, but there's still lots of places to hit in the meantime that are open to fish now. I'll surely be out and about the next two Saturdays if you'd like to meet up. It'd be my pleasure to show you around the area streams, and help you get up to speed on things.
