I had 2 rods at the Newbie Jam. One was an old Sage RPL+. Josh had that rod most of the time. I had the St Croix Legend Elite. If you cast the rod with the slate colored sharkskin line, that was a St Croix. The Legend Ultra is a tad bit slower. The Elite is mostly a tip flex where the Ultra is more of a mid bend point. I will say that the Ultra is easier to cast for the average angler. It's pretty light and has a very smooth feel.

Just looked it up on ebay.... used Legend Ultras are going for $200 (plus shipping) for a 2pc and $220-240 (plus shipping) for a 4pc.

I'm trying not to split these up because I'm trying to clean out the fishing closet. but I guess I can.

I will split it up. I'd like to do $200 on the rod and $230 for the reel with Rio Gold WF4F (used 3-5 times).

If you PM me... I'll tell you how to save $100 on the entire outfit. I'm looking for something specific listed on the forum.
