For smallmouth bass: the lower Juniata River and the Potomac River around Harper's Ferry.

For trout: Cumberland Valley - Letort, Big Spring, Falling Springs, Yellow Breeches (Honorable Mention: Spring Creek in Centre Co)

Salt: Jersey shore at Island Beach State Park and the middle Keys around Islamorada

With the exception of the FL Keys, the above places are favorites of mine largely because they are fairly close to home and can be visited in a day trip (weekend for the NJ shore) They're also places that I am familiar with after countless visits over 20 or more years. Many fishermen love to explore new water and I do too.....but truth be told, I'm a bit of homebody and tend to focus on waters that I know well. I'll never get bored with this list.
