I'd like to jump on the Dick's bashing bandwagon as well! :)

Last year I purchased an out of state annual Delaware license in the store. It's only $26 or so with the stamp. I paid for and got a receipt for the annual license and stamp.

They print out a license and I leave the store. A month later I am fishing on the Brandywine, officer asks for license and it turns out I got a 7 day license and received a $50 ticket.

I took my license and receipt back to Dick's and ask either for a refund for the difference in price, or for them to print up a new annual license for me. I thought that was a reasonable deal, I consider it my fault for not checking that the license was correct before I left. They thought otherwise and said they couldn't and wouldn't do anything. Attempts to contact corporate just resulted in them referring me back to the store, and ultimately a cold shoulder.

All over either a $10 refund, or twenty something dollar license. So on stubborn principal I avoid those places like the plague now.

With all that being said, I got an awesome deal on a pair of Simm's waders from the nearest local fly shop after Christmas :)
