Sorry for your situation Marvin. I work for one of the big boxes, not Dicks however. To be honest, flyfishing is one of the smallest pieces of profit pie in these kind of places and seem to be shrinking in all the stores.

As far as your purchased warranty goes, once you use them thats it. Its over. However you may purchase a new warranty on your replaced waders for the cost of the warranty alone. I wasnt there but thats what should have happened.

Only other thing I can think of is you possibly got your original receipt and then your return receipt from Dicks mixed up? You would need original or both.

Hate to see ya leave $120.00 out there, and I know those plans work with precious few exceptions.

If you go with upper echelon waders, absolutely good for you. Only drawback is how long sometimes you have to wait for your replacements to arrive.

Thanks for not changing your avatar. I like that brookie alot better. 😊
