I have the first few dozen flies from when I first started tying but that's it. Any fly I'm not happy with gets the blade, too cheap to not reuse the hooks I guess. Besides I figure what's the use having flies laying around that I'm never going to use? I figured out a long time ago that there's no use putting flies in the box I don't like cause I never fish them, take up much needed space is all they do.
