A couple of "firsts" yesterday: First fish on the long rod and first creek smallie of 2013!

Size 8 BHWB...all white...swinging across and down a deep pool....she took at the bottom of the swing; before I started to strip.

The take was more of a mushy resistance than a HIT....but, there she was! A strong but lethargic fight. I was able to strip her all the way in. I imagine in another month or so this would have been a completely different fight!!

A real beauty: bronze/green/black.....very dark and very healthy looking...I love smallmouths. Released unharmed.

And so, success with the fly rod....must have been all the learning I got at the newbie jam!!! 🏆 🏆
