

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Muddy Creek, York County 3/22/2013

Re: Muddy Creek, York County 3/22/2013

Author: : geebee

Date: : 2013/3/23 18:07:05

URL:

Quote:

Fishidiot wrote:

Good chance they were Rusty Crayfish - not a good thing to find in your local waterway (they're in the Susky drainage now).

However, they grow big and make for good eating.

yup, they can overrun streams and ponds. i saw a show about a pond in London that the park wardens were trapping 200lbs of signal crayfish a week. they couldn't trap them fast enough...

a trout net and a chicken bone was we used to use as kids to catch em.