

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Flies

Re: Flies

Author: : jeremymcon

Date: : 2013/3/24 23:04:37

URL:

Adams! In sizes 12 to 22. Adams dry flies are great because they can imitate a lot of different bugs. Go with the standard dun to begin with, then maybe try the parachute version. The Adams is the only fly I fished for the first 3 or 4 months of learning to fish, and I caught plenty of panfish and small (dumb) trout. Enough to get me through learning the basics of casting, reading water, and getting a good drift.