

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Wading boots

Re: Wading boots

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/3/25 9:01:01

URL:

Quote:

I'm still waiting for someone to make a pair of wading boots geared specifically towards wet wading.

I'm not sure exactly what you're looking for? They make wading boots everywhere from "boot like" to "shoe like", down to water socks. Personally, for rocky trout streams, whether wet wading or with waders I want a BOOT. For the salt I'd go more the flat boot style. But they make em all.

I use the neoprene socks just for sizing, but if I were buying a pair only for wet wading, I'd just buy em a little smaller.

Chota makes the Caney Fork with a removable liner for this purpose. Leave the liner in to wet wade. Take it out to use a wader sock.