

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Chauncy Lively

Re: Chauncy Lively

Author: : Tups

Date: : 2013/3/25 13:11:00

URL:

From "Chauncey Lively's FlyBox", Stackpole, 1980.

The Flexi Inchworm:

Hook: #14 or 16 regular shank

Thread: Pale green Monocord or nymph thread

Body: Deer body hair dyed pale green

He states: "The Flexi-Inchworm is an improved version of the original pattern. It lends itself both to conventional upstream work and pocket skittering because it is virtually unsinkable. Almost any shade of dyed green body hair will do but my personal favorite is pale, whitish-green. It not only matches many of the naturals but it is extremely visible under the shaded situations where one normally fishes inchworms."