

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : So they're not closing...

Re: So they're not closing...

Author: : Chaz

Date: : 2013/3/25 14:18:48

URL:

Quote:

troutbert wrote:

The idea of harvesting wild food is very appealing, and there is some opportunity to do that.

But there is a reason humans took to farming thousands of years ago. Because of the limited ability of nature to provide abundant wild food.

It would be interesting to know the number of legal sized wild trout that exist in the state of PA. And how that compares to the number of anglers.

Scientists now claim that the earth would support about 3,000,000 hunter gatherers, without agriculture. That's not many people.