What this WOULD do is change the stocking from pre-season AND in-season to in-season only. So "Opening day" would change to the inseason stocking day. On the other hand, any local co-ops COULD stock it preseason but the harvest limits would remain the same as the statewide general regulations

Is there some kind of rule about that? Why could they not stock it earlier?

Sometime in early to mid-March for example. Then when we get some warm spring weather, people could get out there and fish. I thought that was the whole idea.

Regarding the idea about this section possibly being reclassified as Class A, I've never heard anyone say that.

That section is not even on the reproduction list.

And Pine is not even on the reproduction even anywhere NEAR there. It's only on the repro list above Galeton, which is a very long way upstream from Blackwell.
