They could stock it preseason but they don't. At least not anywhere else. Because they don't want to create a preemptive opening day with no harvest. If they did stock it early all the harvesters would complain about why they cannot keep the fish.

We have one in York and thats the way its handled.

So it will mean fewer fish overall for the sections, and with little or no wild trout it will be pretty bleak. But as I said the co-ops could stock it.

Maybe Mike will chime in and verify my assertions.
