

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Small Soft Hackles

Re: Small Soft Hackles

Author: : outsider

Date: : 2013/3/25 22:28:55

URL:

Quote:

gfen wrote:

Weighting the line causes a grossly unnatural speed up as the weight begins to swing and the fry has to race to catch up with it.

A sinking line, a sinking leader, or a weighted fly is the appropriate way to do this.

I use weight (typically micro shot) on a regular basis when fishing/swinging wet flies, especially in fast moving water.