

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : loop connection

Re: loop connection

Author: : BlkLgbEaDheAd09

Date: : 2013/3/26 8:00:55

URL:

I read an article somewhere that you can make your owne looped end on your fly line by using a hair straightening iron to melt the end back over itself, thus forming a loop. I never tried it myself because I was afraid it would weaken the line at the "weld". Just wandering if anyone else has tried this, or heard of it even.