It's a very cool thing that just doesn't "fit" me yet, but certainly on the right track!

I have no smartphone. I have a car Garmin GPS but they don't have the natural repro list on this app for the Garmin's. I have little interest in the other lists, pretty much have most of that info memorized or otherwise easily available at all times.

Yes, it's data that's available for free online for computer users, and I use it all the time. You're paying for the convenience of putting it on your phone or GPS unit.

That said, a smartphone probably isn't all that far in my future, and absolutely, when I make that jump I almost certainly will buy this thing.
