Your fly looks good. Don't make it harder than it has to be though. I have one thorax tie in a 14 & 16. It covers me on female hendrickson and blue quills. A rusty/brown thorax dry in a 16 to cover the male hendrickson.

Carry a pile of CDC emergers. Most of those can match a caddis and / or a mayfly hatch. The only other must have in the box is rusty spinners in 12 - 20. Those 4 patterns will get you through most of your spring fishing.

When in doubt, error on making the body too thin and not too fat.

looking a wbranch's fly tying desk, he's tied more flies today than I've tied in the last 5 years.
