They could stock it preseason but they don't. At least not anywhere else.

Not true at all. The lower Tully, from Red Bridge to the mouth, is ATW year round. They stock it "preseason". And it always cracks me up that people line up on opening day, and half of em are releasing them anyway. Like, umm, you know you could have done that yesterday too, right?

Though it would not surprise me if, in this case, they were trying to keep stocking numbers down. Pine is huge, and takes a LOT of fish.
