

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Floating the Beaverkill

Floating the Beaverkill

Author: : wbranch

Date: : 2013/3/27 10:51:40

URL:

I don't know how many forum members often fish the Catskills but if you fish the Beaverkill do you ever see guys floating it with a pontoon boat or kayak? I was just wondering because the Beaverkill is actually wider than the West Branch Delaware for most of it's length and it would be a way to see much of the river.

I haven't fished there in at least a decade but I had fished it for over twenty-five years and had never seen any kind of water craft on it. Probably it is better to leave it to wading anglers. It does get a tremendous amount of waders and any pontoons floating on it would most likely cause major shouting matches.