Thanks everyone for all the feed back and helpful insights. I've been getting as much information as a can over the past months and now i really want to just get out and try and do this. I'm hoping to get my rod/reel tomorrow. If I would rather get one in-store does anyone think I could find something serviceable at gander mountain, or Dicks. Cabela's is too far for me. I'm glad to have found such a good forum with good people with the same interests. I'll keep you guys posted as to how my first outing goes. :p Probably just practicing casting more than anything.
