All the talk of using a 10' rod finally got to me so I got something fairly inexpensive. I got it from Sierra Trading for $156 plus shipping. Thought that was pretty fair. Just put it together and it seems a little tip heavy but should work for nymphing from the boat or small streamers. I will also try it for max distance dry fly fishing. If I did my homework correctly, it is labeled as a 5 but can easily handle a 6 line.

Anyone have any experience with one of these? Any word on rod performance? I cast a 9' model that PhilC brought to the fall catskill jam and it seemed like a pretty decent weapon.
