

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Opening day angler counts

Re: Opening day angler counts

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2013/3/29 8:45:51

URL:

The last time I joined a stocking event, I did so out of a sense of obligation because the group organizing was calling out for volunteers. When I arrived near the stocking point, I was amazed at all the cars. I thought: "Why did they need to seem so desperate?" Then when I got to the area where volunteers were gathered, there were about one dozen-- all the other cars were anglers, staking out their position on the river, waiting for the volunteers to throw trout in.