Yesterday was tough. Rocky and V were fishing, and so were a million other folks because of the nice weather. I actually decided to take my clients to Elk and it paid off. She was stained beautiful and flowing. I was able to get them on fish and they had the space to work on their casting, line management etc without people crawling all over them. The monster smallies will be coming in soon as well and that always makes Elk kind of sexy in April. Doesn't look like the rain Sunday will amount to much. This next week will be nice on the Ohio Tribs.
