So my casting knot tying and other basic skills are getting better and i even catch a fish once and awhile but one thing i struggle with is how to pick a fly when i get to the stream. One instance is when i fished a large stretch of stream then a guy gives me a zebra midge and all of a sudden im catching fish well i cant say i would have picked this fly from the start am i wasting my time if i dont use this random midge i would have never thought to use i feel like i should always be using different fly/flyes

thanks happy easter
