Wow. Great pics. Who needs a camera huh ?

I read a blog called small stream reflections and he fishes all year round like myself. The blog has taught me to tread softly and look for the sunny stretches and the fish will often be in the shallows or near to them where the water is warmer.

Small streamers like the Mickey Finn or edson tiger seem to be the ticket, or buggy ptns picket pins etc.

I think that one or two fish for a day on a small creek is pretty okay imho.
