Here's hoping he survives the gauntlet and you meet up again.

Yeah, I was thinking the same thing. The stockers disappear by mid-Summer and in the Fall all I catch on this stream is wild Browns...not a ton, but enough to make it worth a stop once or twice each Fall. I caught two slightly larger (9"-ish) wild Browns in the same hole that this fish came from last Fall. The hole is now also filled with a couple dozen stockers though...hopefully I educated this one a little bit.
