
Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Catskills Chaos early May 2013

Re: Catskills Chaos early May 2013

Author: : wsender

Date: : 2013/4/1 13:28:12

URL:

Quote:

krayfish wrote:

For sheer trout numbers, the wb will probably win. The wb also wins for most crowded and hyped river....ever. The eb has more bows that will burn your reel up. I'll say the eb has more bugs and a larger "average fish". You really should try it. The main is a critter all its own. It holds good fish, very heavy hatches but can be quite fickle.

I've never really fished the EB ever either and would definitely like to try it the next time I'm up there. Would you say it's as wadeable (or more wadeable) as the WB? Also, how does it compare access wise.