

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Furled leaders

Re: Furled leaders

Author: : paparise

Date: : 2013/4/1 19:59:54

URL:

As Afish knows, I just furled my first leader using his method (ie no pegboard) and it worked out pretty well. Any errors I've seen with the leader are not a fault of the leader method but of the construction. I learned a bunch making the first one and the second will be better.

I created a 6' furled leader and then 3x,4x,5x knotted tapper after that. Caught one trout on it at VC on sat w a BWO.

One complaint I've heard is that it picks up a lot of water and you get spray while casting. I only noticed this on really slow pools. I'd imagine it could be a problem on low clear days.