Tied up these HEAVY anchor flies. They should definitely help me keep my nymphs low. I am not quite happy with the size 10's and think the bodies are too short and the eyes are a bit large. I think the size 8 are about as good as I can get them.

The bodies are wrapped with .2 lead wire, and the throat is double wrapped. I attached the dumbbell eyes as well. I will be out one of the mornings this weekend, and will let you know how they perform.

I will soon be getting in my tungsten. These were tied with dubbing from the squirrel dubbing box. It is not as buggy as a natural grey squirrel but I am very happy with the "buggyness" and flash of the bodies. The ribbing on these is brown vinyl rib.

I think they will perform well.
