Check the usgs guage, pat: The pohopoco in kresgeville hit 46 yesterday. If white haven is anything near the 59 forecast for next Mon, and the 68 forecast for next wed, the little streams will be plenty warm for brookie fishing.

And there is nothing magical about any particular water temperature. I have caught nice brookies in the last few weeks on dry flies in water from low to mid 40s. Still, the fishing should improve as the weather warms up.
