We do not know the mentality of the people out there these days. Some people may have had a bad day and were not able to think straight. Some people have this addiction (Flyfishing) to the max and all else has no concern what so ever, only to get their fix. If we try to enforce our attitudes upon them there may be a new concern mentioned in the news called "flyby shooting". I do not want to see or hear about anyone getting hurt just because they expected to be acknowledged or they feel they are being encroached upon. You choose>>>"you can be dead right or dead wrong, or alive". It's 99% in your response. If you feel the person is an idiot, do not lower yourself to their level.
