

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : A few HEAVY anchor flies

Re: A few HEAVY anchor flies

Author: : dubthethorax

Date: : 2013/4/2 16:56:52

URL:

IMO- way too big. Looks like they'd work for bass more than trout. If you really want to get a good anchor pattern, do czechs or smaller nymphs with lead tape wrapped bodies and tungsten beads.

Also, tungsten teardrops are something I started using recently.

<http://www.performanceflies.com/category-s/302.htm>

They rock as anchors, especially if you bead head them.