

Subject: : Fly Tying Topic: : A few HEAVY anchor flies Re: A few HEAVY anchor flies

Author: : dubthethorax Date: : 2013/4/2 16:56:52

URL:

IMO- way too big. Looks like they'd work for bass more than trout. If you really want to get a good anchor pattern, do czechs or smaller nymphs with lead tape wrapped bodies and tungsten beads.

Also, tungsten teardrops are something I started using recently. http://www.performanceflies.com/category-s/302.htm

They rock as anchors, especially if you bead head them.