Just tossing it around in the yard, it does launch it. I went back to the site looking for a 4wt and they are gone!
Crap.

5 weight for steelies? Not feeling that idea. I go steelheading for 2 days every 3 years and it's usually on the SR. They'd snap this thing in that current. So..... I'll make the 5 wt my main steelhead rod. I don't want to risk breaking it so.... I'll have to stop standing out in the snow fishing in water that's 33 degrees. Works for me.
LOL.
