Natural Gas Fracking Topic of 2013 Cobetto Lecture

This year's Dr. Bernard Cobetto Lecture Series on Contemporary Ethical Issues at the University of Pittsburgh at Greensburg will feature environmental philosopher Wendy Lynne Lee, PhD, a professor of Philosophy at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania.

Her talk, entitled "When the Earth Moves Under Our Feet: The Pennsylvania Marcellus Gas Rush," will be held 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 10, at Pitt-Greensburg's Ferguson Theater (150 Finoli Drive, Greensburg, PA 15601). Lee will discuss natural gas fracking as it pertains to Pennsylvania. A community panel representing various viewpoints on the topic will also participate. This event is free and open to the public. Pre-event registration is suggested, and may be done by calling 724-836-9911.
