While some of you may cringe at my cringing, I ask that you look at who is enjoying the recreation of trout fishing. Are they predominantly wild trout enthusiasts? Clearly the opposite, but you will rationalize that cutting out 90% of anglers from enjoyment is OK because, afterall, you are on the side of nature and goodness. This is how the battles for small victories are lost in my opinion.

When it comes to angler trips I would bet bottom dollar this statement is incorrect.

I don't think people have an issue with stocking marginal streams. Its not so common sense apparently.
