

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Giant tiger trout in PA? Who'd a thunk it?

Re: Giant tiger trout in PA? Who'd a thunk it?

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/4/5 16:43:01

URL:

The top two fish are definitely tigers although I seriously doubt they're wild fish.

This isn't actually that unusual. Trout stocked in ATWs and private club water routinely migrate out into larger river systems where they spend the colder months of the year. These fish could easily have come from the Delaware, Allegheny, or Susquehanna River from a tributary stocked by a private club. These rivers are all hit hard by walleye guys during the colder months and they get some nice trout.