i think Mike gave you the best piece of advice - don't be seen. keep low, wear drab clothes, and move very slowly into position downstream.

wait 20 minutes and watch him. is he lying doggo or moving side to side or up and down - is he feeding ?

then make a cast.

i'd try a small drab nymph. no bead or flash.

if that doesn't work i'd riffle hitch a caddis and skate it past him from up stream or even a small blue gill popper.
