

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Finding small streams

Finding small streams

Author: : jeremymcon

Date: : 2013/4/6 11:05:24

URL:

I've been hearing about fishing small streams for wild trout. I looked on the PAFBC website, and did manage to find a list of streams where wild trout populations are know to exist, but I have trouble actually finding the streams. The list gives GPS coordinates for some point along the stream, but even with that I haven't been able to find a place where I can get onto one without being on someone's property.

I've been thinking that it'd be good to get a detailed map that would show where exactly these little streams are, but I can't seem to find a source for detailed topographical maps for this area.

So, is there a good method for finding small streams?