Tim,

How are the force fins once you get in the water? I have found that the cheap fins tend to really hurt my feet after a long day on the water. I think it is because they put a lot of stress on the top of my feet on the up stroke. It actually makes it very painful to walk for a couple of days afterward. That is the biggest reason I want to go in another direction. But I don't want to drop $200 for something that doesn't really perform well. And you are spot on when you said that float tube fishing is fun. I love using mine.
