Wishing to start tying my own. But not really sure which of all the starting kits kits is best or the most truly complete? What did others start with as far as tying kits? separate vise and tools? Bench?

As a newbie to tying, who started with a kit, if you are seriously going to get into tying, purchase a better vise. You won't regret the investment.

The kit is nice for giving you some basic materials and instructions on tying, but I have seen material only kits out there and I am sure that some of the experienced fly-tiers on here can give you a shopping list of items to begin your journey with.

Good Luck and be sure to post pics of your ties. You will get both gentle criticism and strong encouragement here.
