so, if/when i commit to WW fly fishing for bass, i should have a sink tip/fully sinking line with straight 15lb fluro, and another spool with floating WF line tapered from.... 20 mono/fluro to 12? like 20/15/12 on the end? maybe it would be easier to buy a tapered 0x leader.....

*EDIT: wait shouldn't the taper be on the sinking line to help turn over the larger streamers used? and straight for surface poppers/divers?
